Vitality Active Rewards Bike Booster | Benefit guide

This benefit has been replaced by Vitality Active Gear and is no longer available for activation. Members with an active bike booster will continue to be paid out for the full 36 months from date of redemption as per original benefit rules.

How the Bike Booster rewards are paid out

Your rewards percentage is based on achieving your Vitality Active Rewards goals for the previous month.

- To calculate your Bike Booster rewards, we take up to 25% of the purchase price of your mountain or road bike, to a maximum spend of R20 000 and divide this by the 36 months over which you will receive your rewards. That gives you the rewards amount you can receive each month.
- If your monthly rewards works out to less than R40 we will carry it over until the amount adds up to more than R40 and then pay you the rewards.
- Your monthly rewards amount depends on your goal completion in the previous month.

- We will make this rewards payment on your billing date, the month after you buy your qualifying bike.
  - Please make sure that your bank account details are correct and up to date so you can receive your monthly rewards. You can manage and update your bank account details by logging in to your profile at the Discovery website.

- We will only pay rewards on a qualifying mountain or road bike that has been bought from Cycle Lab after we receive email confirmation that the payment has cleared as part of the Bike Booster benefit.
- If more than one mountain or road bike is purchased in one transaction, your rewards will be calculated on the higher-priced bike.
- If you return your bike, your Bike Booster benefit will be cancelled and you will no longer earn monthly rewards. No refunds of the activation fee will be allowed.
- If you exchange your mountain or road bike for a new one, the Bike Booster rewards will be calculated based on the first bike you bought.

Ending the benefit

- If you are no longer a Vitality member, the benefit will no longer apply and you will not qualify to receive further rewards on Bike Booster.
- If you choose to cancel the benefit and have already paid the R950 activation fee, you will not qualify for a refund on the activation fee.
- If you purchased your mountain or road bike and return it for a full refund, you will not receive a refund on the R950 activation fee.
  - You will not be able to cancel your selected Fitness Booster if you have already paid the activation fee.
  - By cancelling your Bike Booster benefit you will forfeit any remaining rewards under this benefit.
  - You will not continue to earn rewards for any months that may remain for your booster benefit, after the cancellation date.
